

“ I am currently holding the MSCA Global Fellowship, which provides me with the unique opportunity to conduct my research project. The importance of the MSCA Fellowship to my career development cannot be overstated. Not only have I gained access to world-class research facilities, but I have also enhanced my research and networking skills and honed my leadership skills. The generous salary and research budget allocated to MSCA Fellows allowed me to focus fully on my project and gave me the freedom of mobility. During my fellowship, I expanded my academic networks and broadened my professional horizons. I am immensely grateful for all the opportunities the MSCA Fellowship has given me and I strongly encourage scholars who may be hesitant about whether this programme is for them to apply. ”

The European Union's Marie Skłodowska-Curie Actions (MSCA) fund excellent research and innovation and equip researchers at all stages of their career with new knowledge and skills, through mobility across borders and exposure to different sectors and disciplines.

The MSCA also fund the development of excellent doctoral and postdoctoral training programmes and collaborative research projects worldwide. They are part of Horizon Europe, successor of the Horizon 2020 programme, the European Union's research and innovation funding programme. The MSCA is fully open to the participation of US American researchers as well as US American organisations.
